In a small village nestled between tall mountains, lived a young boy named Aarav. Every day, Aarav would go to the forest to collect firewood for his family. The forest was dense and full of tall trees that touched the sky. Aarav enjoyed listening to the chirping birds and watching the sunlight filter through the leaves.

One day, as Aarav was gathering wood, he heard a faint sound. Following the sound, he found a small, injured bird lying on the ground. Aarav gently picked up the bird and decided to take it home. He carefully nursed the bird back to health, feeding it and keeping it warm. After a few weeks, the bird was strong enough to fly again. Aarav felt a deep sense of happiness as he watched the bird soar into the sky.
